Annual Report 2019

FOUNDER'S LETTER

Dear Friends,
Greetings from Windhoek, Namibia!

The 2019 year was a monumental one for the Technical Basketball Academy (TBA). We celebrated our fourth year of the TBA vision, launched the Basketball pop up series, and we got crowned division one Khomas Basketball Association (KBA) Basketball champions. As we reflect on the past year we celebrate some exiting moments:

The most stirring highlight of the past year is being crowned KBA division one champions in just a few years in the senior league. More exciting, was launching the TBA 3x3 Basketball pop series in our effort to reach more youth using Basketball as a tool.

This report is dedicated to our young leaders. They are the business minds, the entrepreneurs, the scientists, the engineers, the social activists, the artists and the agricultural pioneers. They have started ventures, provided solutions to some of our youth's most pressing challenges. We are more confident than ever that these changemakers will lead our continent to prosperity and dramatically change Africa's leadership ecosystem. We are thrilled to introduce some of them to you in the pages that follow.

Titus Mwahafa
Founder & President

Together, we are growing a network of young leaders who are driving the catalytic change that will ultimately lead our continent to lasting peace and shared prosperity.

We look forward to your active partnership in the year ahead.

With gratitude

DIRECTOR'S LETTER

Dear Friends,
Greetings from Namibia!

Four years ago, we started this journey to foster a thriving community of young leaders who develop through practice. Our approach at TBA primes students to be agents of African transformation, while our strong culture creates an intergenerational, purpose-driven community.

We are building a suite of programs that connect young leaders to growth opportunities, to TBA, and to each other. From international competitions and conferences, university guidance and support, mentorship, and career development opportunities, our network enables our students and alumni to reach their potential.

5th
TECHNICAL BASKETBALL ACADEMY
QUINQUENNIAL
CELEBRATION

As we approach our Quinquennial year, we continue to the lay foundations for the future, while staying true to the leadership development model that underpins our work of developing the next class of African leaders.

Together, we are building a lasting institution that will play a transformative role in Africa's future by identifying, developing, and connecting the continent's future leaders.

FROM POTENTIAL TO ACTION

TBA'S DEVELOPMENT MODEL

IDENTIFY POTENTIAL

Using Basketball as a knob to attract dynamic motivated student athlete

We seek dynamic motivated members from all over the khomas region, who are thrilled at the prospect of an intense program which they will develop as student athletes.

DEVELOP THROUGH PRACTICE

Learn while doing

With TBA, students establish a fully functional student enterprise which enables them to become financially responsible, innovative and become mentally mature.

CONNECT TO OPPORTUNITY

Opening doors- Breaking barriers

Guided by a powerful network, young leaders are taught to embrace the spirit of unity and eventually become the network for their juniors.

Tamara !Gaoses Class of 2015

Tamara (class of 2015) seizes opportunity and starts implementation plan to impact the sport & those around her.

From the rough neighborhood of Dolam, she grew up seeing her friends and neighbors fall victim to the streets of her neighborhood. Despites, all the adversity Tamara is determined to make a name for herself using the opportunity & lessons she was accorded by the Technical Basketball Academy (TBA) and Namibian Basketball Federation (NBF) which is using basketball as a tool. Tamara recently became Namibia's first female referee to officiate an FIBA international 3x3 competition at the young lions cup in Botswana.

Tamara returned from Botswana inspired and motivated to share her experience. She devised an initiative to host refereeing clinic for her fellow country man. She successfully hosted three officials clinics and two FIBA clinics during 2019.

Tamara echoes all the lessons she picked up since she became a member of the Technical Basketball Academy (TBA), "you don't need to be great to start but you need to start to be great."

"My vision for 2020 is to have as many officials as possible and host officials clinics in every region in Namibia."

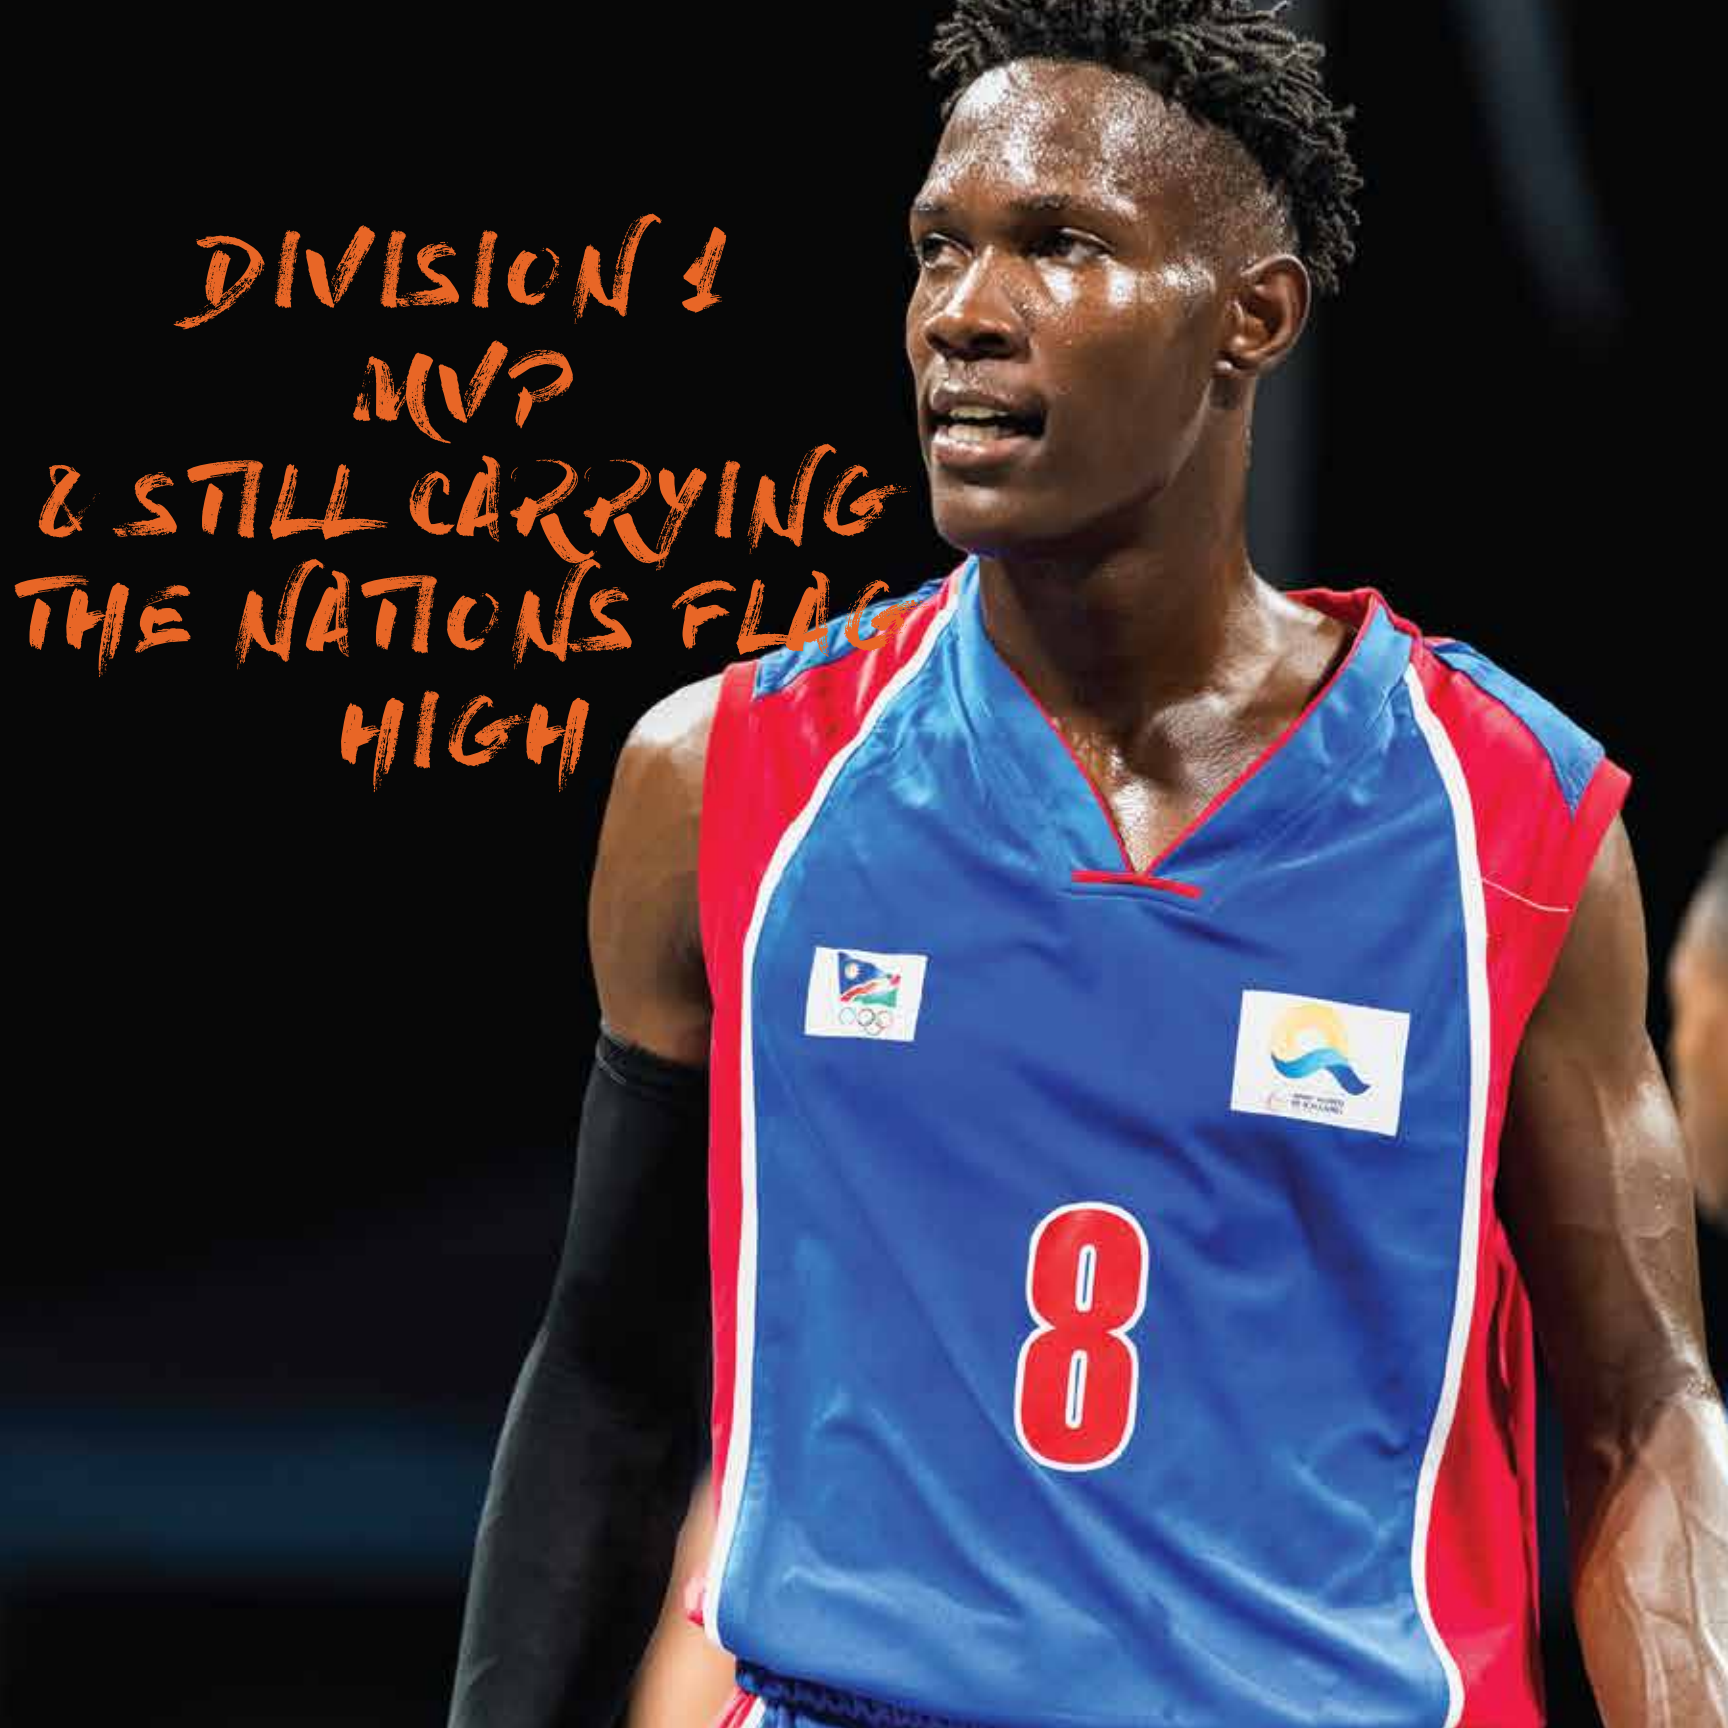
DIVISION 1 MVP & STILL CARRYING THE NATIONS FLAG HIGH



2019 MVP Embodies the qualities of a Student Athlete

Meunae Tjirimuje Class of 2015

Tjirimuje is the 2019 Division 1 Basketball MVP, and Engineering student at the Namibia Science University of Technology. He embodies the definition of what it means to be a student athlete. " I am Student, I am an Athlete, I am African". Technical Basketball Academy's (TBA), Blackswords captain led his team to victory this season scooping various accolades in the same season such as the leagues Most Valuable Player (MVP) and Making it to the All star team.

"I am proud of the growth that my fellow team mates and I have gone over the years, the experience and mentoring that the Technical Basketball Academy is exposing us to, its not about having the greatest infrastructure but its about using the small things in great way to make an impact"

"I am proud of having represented my country Namibia at the 3x3 world beach games in Qatar, as the are not many opportunity for young people in Basketball. Wining the division one league is bigger than all of us, it is for the entire TBA organization the recourse sowed in us were meant to bare fruit at some point. TBA is a family and this is just the first milestone achieved."

Anna Iimene Class of 2017

Inspired by those around her, the (class of 2017). Her unparalleled prospects and growth earned her the 2019 most improved award.

"All I want is to play Basketball and the Technical Basketball Academy (TBA) gave me that opportunity. This award is for my coaching staff and team mates for putting me in a position to excel. At TBA, one is always reminded of the big picture and their role in it, its about the team and not me as an individual."

At TBA it's our goal to support and guide our student athletes on their journey and expose them to variety of experiences both on and off the court, which will inspire and encourage the athletes to challenge themselves mentally, intellectually and physically throughout our time together.

"The 2019 season was a learning curve for the Silverswords, we finished off third overall a slight improvement from the previous year, as a team our different dynamics came together to produce these results."

We will come back stronger in 2020.
